

TFPI SOCIAL ENTERPRISE

The launch of Akka Bakery in Devanahalli.

ABOUT AKKA BAKERY

TFPI social enterprise set up as a women's cooperative that trains and empowers women with little choice to become entrepreneurs. The goal is to empower women survivors to make choices of their own - to work, to learn, to invest in their children, and to live confidently and safely on their own

The TFPI social enterprise, in collaboration with the National Livelihood Mission-Karnataka (NLM) and with government support, is driving more than just economic growth. This initiative empowers rural women with the tools and confidence to break barriers, unlock their potential, and lead the creation of vibrant, self-sustaining communities.

First Akka Cafe launched in Bengaluru as part of state efforts to foster women entrepreneurs

"Out of the 60 women who completed the baking training at The Freedom Project India, 10 women have started their own bakery in Davenahalli. Super proud of them! Continuing to impact more lives through our social enterprise."
